APRIL

Student Science & Agriculture

This month at Happy Hüt, our students have been engaged in a hands-on learning experience focused on biology and sustainable agriculture. Through curiosity, teamwork, and creativity, they explored two exciting topics:

🌱 1. Understanding Leaf Types

Our young learners studied compound leaves and simple leaves, learning how to identify them and recognize examples from their local environment. Through this physical understanding, students are becoming more observant and connected to nature—one leaf at a time!

Environmentalism

🌱 2. Modern Agriculture & Environmental Conservation

In our second project, students embraced modern growing techniques by planting legumes in reused plastic containers like bottles and tins. This initiative served multiple purposes:

Maximizing Space: Teaching kids to grow crops in small containers for practical urban farming.

Environmental Stewardship: Turning waste into opportunity by reusing plastic and reducing dumping.

Skill Building: Learning how to grow food while protecting the environment.

Through this powerful combination of agricultural skills and environmental care, our children are not only learning to plant—they're learning to protect the planet.

Thank you for supporting our mission to raise strong, wise, and kind leaders. 🌍💚

New Video Page!

Pictures and Words Are Great... But Videos Are Even Better!
We're excited to announce that we've added a new page to our website dedicated to videos! Come explore the impact you've been making by watching our engaging video content!

Current Challenge

One of our persistent challenges is to guarantee that there is an ample supply of food and snacks for the growing children at our sanctuary. Unfortunately, with the US AID being cut from Uganda, our food prices have tripled for our dry staples of wheat flour, rice, beans, potatoes, and spices. That is why, we have the ALL NEW Happy Tummies Club! Together, we can ensure that every child is well-nourished, fed, and able to grow to their fullest potential.

We are aiming to form the Happy Tummies Club of 20 Generous Donors at $15 per month by end of Spring, June 20th, 2025.
